1 Quick Summary

A verb is an action word. It tells us what a noun is doing, thinking, or feeling.

For example:

2 Memory Trick

Verbs are the engine of every sentence—without a verb, nothing moves or happens!

3 Common Types of Verbs

Verbs can show physical actions, mental actions (thinking), feelings or a state of being.

Action Verbs (Physical Actions)

These verbs show something we can do.

Thinking & Feeling Verbs (Mental Actions)

These verbs show what we think or feel.

4 Why It Matters

- ✓ Verbs bring our sentences to life.
- ✓ They tell us what is happening.
- ✓ They help us share our thoughts and feelings.
- ✓ Every complete sentence needs a verb.

Action Verbs vs. State of Being

Different Jobs
Both Are Important! ♥

1 Action Verbs

Action verbs show movement or physical action. They tell us what someone or something does.

Common Action Verbs:

run

jump

play swim

write

read eat

dance

2 State of Being Verbs

State of being verbs tell us about a subject. They do not show an action. They link the subject to a description (a feeling, a state or a condition).

The main state of being verbs are:

am

is are was were

I am happy.

She is kind.

We are friends.

He was tired.

They were excited.
